

RADX107 : Patient Care in Radiologic Sciences II

Building on the concepts and skills learned in RADX101, additional nursing skills as well as communication, pharmacology contrast administration and venipuncture will be introduced. This course also includes common law, ethical theories and moral principles that radiographers need to function as a professional healthcare provider along with healthcare administration, accreditation process and how they impact patient care.

Credits 2

Lecture Hours 1

Lab/Clinical/Field Study Hours 3

Prerequisite Courses

RADX104: Clinical Radiography I

Corequisites

RADX105, RADX106, RADX108, RADX109

Semester Offered

Spring